Another African Adventure Our 24th evangelism project in Ghana, W. Africa since 2003 began with a bang before we ever got off the ground in Charlotte. Our March 13 flight had left the gate and began to taxi toward the runway when the pilot informed us that we had been told by the JFK airport to delay our departure due to a problem on their end. As we sat, an African American passenger stepped to the front of the cabin, demanding to leave the aircraft. No explanation of regulations satisfied him, and the situation quickly escalated into his shouts of profanity, racial slurs and threats of destroying the plane! It was obvious that he could not carry out any threat, but the authorities had to be called and the plane returned to the gate, where he was removed and arrested. As soon as the situation was settled, we were told that the way was clear to JFK. We were all grateful that circumstances kept the confrontation on the ground and not in mid-flight! Though a bit unnerving, we already saw that God was controlling circumstances and providing His care. Once underway, our project was spared further hindrance other than the typical adventures connected to our work in Ghana. Our US and Ghanaian teams shared the gospel in 132 venues to 36,553 people and saw 23,314 indicate trusting Christ as Savior!

Student responds to the Gospel

Lots of chicken, rice, potatoes, heat, and power outages. But the kind hotel staff made us as comfortable as possible.

Night time rains turn road to a river

At this point, Ghana is at peace and remains open to the Gospel. God willing, we will return on Sept. 18., 2015.
