Happy New Year from JAMin!

No way! 2015 gone? We talk about time flying, but 2015 was a blur. As we age, time does seem to pass more quickly, so I must be approaching ancient. Of course, time passes at the same rate it always has, so the difference is us. For me, I know it is impacted by the schedule we keep. In 2015, we moved consistently from one event to another, so there was little time to think about time. Before we knew it, the year was history. We saw thousands come to Christ through ministry in Africa and Central America, as well as smaller numbers here at home. Ministry continued in prisons and jails, senior adult facilities, Arlington Baptist Church, and I enjoyed some meaningful conferences. There were wonderful times with family at Grand Camp and a trip to Walt Disney World. Our second book, "A Mother's Words to the World" was published and shared with many. As usual, we shared from our resources to help nearby families with rent, utilities, food and more, while continuing support for ministries around the world (in Nov., Ghana pastor Simon Akpolu reported over 500 more decisions for as a result of his evangelistic efforts, supported by JAMin.). Most recently, we were busy in our annual Christmas ministry with the JAMin. Christmas Singers. What a terrific group who sang before crowds large and small, and made Christmas a little merrier for many. In June JAMin. will begin our 15th year! I can't imagine doing anything else, and I thank you for every prayer, gift and encouragement sent our way to keep us going. Take a look at what's been happening recently.

Because of God's past faithfulness, we look forward to the year ahead with expectation. Other than our two annual trips to Ghana and the usual on-going ministries at home, we do not have a bigger picture of what the year may hold. We've had this experience in the past, and we've learned to simply pursue the opportunities before us and allow additional doors to open as God reveals and leads. They always do. Pray for us as we pray, watch and listen.
